DIPLOMATIC NOTE

“VISAS”

July 15, 2005

HC-60-05

The United States Mission to the United Nations presents its compliments to the Permanent Missions and Permanent Observer Offices to the United Nations and has the honor to inform the Permanent Missions and Permanent Observer Offices of the necessity to submit applications for visas for the 60th United Nations General Assembly, as well as for the upcoming High-level meeting at the very earliest opportunity.

The United States Mission and United States Embassies and Consulates abroad are mindful of the obligation under the United Nations Headquarters Agreement to provide visas for representatives of members to the United Nations as promptly as possible. In accordance with the provisions of the Headquarters Agreement, visas have generally been provided within 15 working days of the date of application. Current security circumstances, however, are such that additional time may be required for the processing of visas.

The United States will make every effort to ensure that there is no undue delay in the processing of visas for representatives of members to attend the 60th United Nations General Assembly or other official United Nations meetings or conferences. However, in order to preclude delayed entry into the United States, Permanent Missions and Permanent Observer Offices are asked to cooperate fully with the request to submit applications at the very earliest opportunity and to allow more time than in the past for the visa to be adjudicated.

“REQUESTING EXPEDITED PORT COURTESIES”

U.S. Department of State
Office of the Chief of Protocol

The proper procedures and guidelines for requesting "expedited port clearance" for high ranking foreign government officials and distinguished foreign visitors through the United States Federal inspection agencies and for greeting them upon arrival in the United States are outlined below.

The term "expedited port clearance" refers to the procedure by which certain designated persons and their personal effects may enter the United States duty-free and be entitled to expedited inspection procedures at the first port of entry. The Office of the Chief of Protocol arranges with the Customs and Border Protection Service for "expedited port clearance."

Persons who are eligible for "expedited port clearance" through federal inspection areas are those persons designated as high ranking officials or distinguished foreign visitors. High-ranking officials include Chiefs of State, Heads of Government, cabinet members, and other senior government officials considered high ranking. Distinguished foreign visitors include the immediate family members of Chiefs of State and Heads of Government, members of royal families, and other distinguished foreign visitors as designated by the Department.

The attached forms delineate the information necessary for the facilitation of entry into the United States for persons eligible for expedited port clearance. For all such arrivals in the United States, the attached forms must be submitted by the Permanent Mission to the U.S. Mission NO LATER THAN 24 hours prior to the scheduled arrival. Failure to submit this information in a timely manner could result in delays to the traveler and his or her delegation.

Airport Greetings:

Foreign dignitaries with U.S. law enforcement protective details should coordinate their entry into a U.S. airport with the advance agent of the U.S. Secret Service or the Diplomatic Security Service.

To enhance the safety and security of international travel, the following procedures apply to the arrival and greeting of foreign dignitaries. All greetings will be subject to and done in accordance with prevailing federal airport security measures. Arrangements must be made through the Office of the Chief of Protocol no less than 24 hours prior to the arrival of a principal and, in the case of security officers traveling with or in advance of a principal, no less than 72 hours prior to the arrival.

Access to the federal inspection areas will not be granted for any purpose other than meeting high ranking foreign government officials or distinguished foreign visitors. Access will be limited to a total of two persons of senior rank. Please note, at JFK greeters are not permitted into the "restricted " area at all. Persons of senior rank are defined as permanent representatives to the United Nations, ambassadors to the United States, charges d'affaires, heads of consular posts, their respective formal designees, and senior United Nations Secretariat personnel.

All greeters must arrive at least thirty minutes prior to the arrival. Upon arrival, greeters must surrender their State Department-issued photo identification cards prior to entering the federal inspection area in order to be issued an airport credential. That credential is to be returned in exchange for the State Department card to the Inspectors before leaving the airport.

To assist in the arrival of the above category of visitors, missions are advised to contact the individual airline's passenger service department. If the airline has been given 72 hours advance notice, passenger service personnel may be of assistance in escorting the traveler from the aircraft through the federal processing area. Airline facilitation cannot be guaranteed and is dependent on the nature of the U.S. threat advisory level.

The Permanent Missions should be aware, however, that, as warranted, U.S. authorities reserve the right to alter, modify or rescind any of the access privileges outlined herein. Further, requests received that do not provide complete information will not be processed.

Foreign dignitaries arriving in the United States also are reminded that the Department of Agriculture, under the enforcement supervision of the Customs and Border Protection Service, regulates the entry of agricultural products into the United States. To prevent the introduction of injurious or potentially harmful pest and disease organisms, all agricultural products must be declared and submitted for inspection.

This announcement applies to procedures for expedited entry privileges. Duty free entry of baggage and effects may be accorded to broader categories of personnel by treaty, statute, or regulation, and is not affected by the information contained herein.

"MOVING THROUGH THE CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION PROCESS"

NOTIFICATION PROCESS

Upon receipt of a completed "Expedited Port Courtesies Request Form," the Department of State, Office of the Chief of Protocol, will forward the request to U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP). CBP will provide notification to the appropriate Port of Entry to ensure that the diplomatic member(s) and their personal effects are processed expeditiously. It is imperative that the U.S. Mission receives timely notification from the Permanent Mission to ensure that CBP personnel are apprised in advance of the pending arrival of diplomatic members. Failure to submit the Expedited Port Courtesies Request Form in a timely manner may result in processing delays at a U.S. Port of Entry or at a pre-clearance station.

INSPECTION PROCESS AT CBP PORTS OF ENTRY

CBP accords diplomatic immunity to members from foreign nations and their families in compliance with the UN Headquarters Agreement, the UN Convention on Privileges and Immunities and the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations. All requests for expedited port courtesies from the Department of State, Office of the Chief of Protocol, are logged, issued an authorization number, and submitted to the appropriate Port of Entry for notification purposes.

All diplomatic members and their families will receive expedited processing through the Port of Entry. Diplomats should identify themselves to a CBP officer checking passports so that the proper courtesies may be accorded.

Upon arrival in the United States, the CBP officer checking passports should be shown the passport and visa (when required), the U.S. Customs Declaration, and the Form I-94 (Arrival-Departure Record). The Form I-94 (Arrival-Departure Record) shows the date of arrival in the United States and the "Admitted Until" date, the date when the authorized period of stay expires. Diplomatic members and their families will receive a Form I-94 from an airline representative when arriving at a Port of Entry. The form must be completed and presented to a CBP officer.

U.S. MISSION TO THE UNITED NATIONS
U.S. Offices of Protocol and Foreign Missions
ARRIVAL / DEPARTURE BRIEFING FOR THE 60TH UNGA
August 10, 2005

When leaving the country, the Form I-94 should be provided to the airline representative. Failure to complete a Form I-94 may result in processing delays. When USUN and the Office of the Chief of Protocol have not been notified of a diplomatic member's arrival, and the diplomatic member is traveling without a visa or on a non-diplomatic visa, the CBP officer will need to call the Department of State for verification, which may cause a delay.

Diplomats and other government officials are exempt from US-VISIT requirements if traveling on A or G visas. They are exempt also from National Security Entry Exit Registration System (NSEERS) registration requirements. If a diplomatic member or family member is not treated in a professional and courteous manner by a CBP officer, a request should be made immediately to speak to a Supervisory CBP officer at the Port of Entry. A Supervisory CBP officer is always available to assist if problems are encountered.

The United States Mission to the United Nations presents its compliments to the Permanent Missions and Observer Offices to the United Nations and to the United Nations Secretariat and has the honor to review the processes and procedures for the travel of diplomats and other high ranking visitors to the United Nations through United States airports.

EXPEDITED PORT COURTESIES (ARRIVAL)

High-ranking government officials and distinguished foreign visitors may be accorded Courtesies of the Port, that is, expedited clearance through customs and immigration procedures, when sufficient advance notice is provided by the member state. Those eligible include: Chiefs of State, Heads of Government, cabinet members and other senior government officials considered high ranking, and the immediate family members of the Chiefs of State and Heads of Government, members of Royal Families and other distinguished foreign visitors as designated by the Department of State.

Missions should request expedited port courtesies at the earliest possible time, but not later than 24 hours prior to the scheduled arrival. Missions should submit the Expedited Port Courtesies form (attached) to the Host Country Section of the United States Mission. (If an Embassy submits a request directly to the Office of Protocol in Washington for travel related to the United Nations, it is suggested that a copy also be forwarded to the Host Country Affairs Section in order to permit the United States Mission to assist should problems arise.) All five pages of the form must be completed, even if it is to note that a section is not applicable, for example, if no armed personnel are accompanying the traveler, enter "No armed personnel".

An expedited port courtesies request is required for the initial travel into the United States. An itinerary should be included if there are to be subsequent travels within the United States.

AIRPORT GREETINGS

Heads of State or Government arriving at United States airports are generally escorted by United States Secret Service officers. Ministers of Foreign Affairs and other high ranking dignitaries may be escorted by Diplomatic Security agents. In those cases where the dignitary is to be escorted by law enforcement agency escorts, arrangements for greeting should be made directly with the relevant law enforcement agency.

Greeting other high ranking and distinguished visitors who have been accorded Courtesies of the Port occurs after the visitor(s) have cleared United States Immigration, collected bags and cleared United States Customs. The United States Mission is unable to arrange for greeters to enter the restricted federal inspection area at New York airports, which includes the gate, immigration services, the baggage carousel and the United States Customs inspection area.

However, a total of two persons of senior rank who wish to meet the visitor(s) may greet them inside the exit of the United States Customs inspection area, provided that information on the greeters has been submitted in advance on the expedited port courtesies form and accepted by the Office of Protocol. Greeters should arrive 30 minutes prior to arrival and surrender their Department of State photo identification cards or United Nations credentials for airport credentials. The airport credentials must be returned prior to departure from the airport. Questions regarding port courtesies may be directed to the Host Country Affairs Office at (212) 415-4156.

AIRPORT SCREENING COURTESIES (DEPARTURE) MINISTERIAL RANK

Cabinet Ministers and above, accompanying spouses and children under the age of twelve, who are not being escorted by a United States Secret Service or Diplomatic Security Service protective detail are eligible to request an escort officer for departure through a United States airport. Departure may include the final departure from the United States as well as intermediate flights within the United States.

It is important to note that the definition of those eligible for these courtesies is restricted to those listed in the previous paragraph only. Airport screening courtesies are not available for family members of Cabinet Ministers or above traveling alone, children over the age of twelve traveling with the dignitary and other non-ministerial rank individuals traveling with a dignitary of ministerial rank. To arrange for airport screening courtesies, the Mission must prepare a separate "Request for Escort Screening Courtesies" form for each person, including children under twelve, for whom escort courtesies are requested. A copy of the form and instructions for completing it are at:

www.un.int/usa/host.htm. The forms should be completed on-line and then sent as an attachment to the email address on the form, airportescorts@state.gov.

Missions should use the following step-by-step instructions:

1. Open the website, www.un/host/usa/host.htm,
2. Scroll down to click on "Requests for Airport Screening Courtesies",
3. When the form appears, complete all requested information,
4. When the form is complete, click on "File" in the upper left corner,
5. From the drop down menu, click on "Send To",
6. From side drop down menu, click on "Mail Recipient (as Attachment)",
7. Address email to airportescorts@state.gov,
8. Send.

The United States Mission appreciates that high ranking government officials are at times required to make last minute changes to their itineraries. In such cases, notification of the change must be made as soon as the information is available. Every attempt to accommodate such changes will be made, but travelers must understand that in some cases it may not be possible.

The Mission Point-of-Contact (POC) designated on the form must be available at all times before departure to receive calls from the assigned escort officer. Since failure to confirm dates, time, and location of departures may prevent the escort officer from arriving at the airport, specific contact information, including daytime and after-hours telephone numbers, is mandatory. In those cases where the traveler will depart from more than one airport in more than one city, it is helpful to provide local contact telephone numbers if possible, for example, the telephone number of the Consulate in the distant city.

The United States Mission will inform the Mission whether the request has been approved or denied. All subsequent arrangements for escort courtesies shall be made directly between the POC and the escort officer assigned to the departure from a particular airport.

Due to the high volume of foreign dignitaries traveling throughout the United States –and especially from airports in New York and Washington, DC – the airport screening program is limited at this time to dignitaries of ministerial rank. Questions about the escort screening program may be directed to the Host Country Affairs Office at (212) 415-4037.

SCREENING IN U.S. AIRPORTS (DEPARTURES) NON-MINISTERIAL RANK

The United States, like many other states, does not exempt bearers of diplomatic passports from airport screening procedures. Therefore it is possible for members of the United Nations diplomatic community who are traveling with diplomatic passports to be selected for Secondary Screening (SSSS) procedures prior to departure from a United States airport.

In order to protect the safety of all visitors and residents alike, rigorous security measures at airports are considered to be necessary and will continue to be implemented. The United States Mission appreciates the cooperation of the members of the United Nations diplomatic community and regrets any undue inconvenience or indignity that may have occurred as a result of these security measures.
